Reka invests CHF 7.5 million in the Hasliberg holiday village

The Reka Hasliberg holiday village is one of the Reka Swiss Travel Fund's most popular holiday resorts. Now it is being renovated in stages. Already, 24 apartments in three of the holiday villas have been renovated. The apartments in the other three holiday villas will be renovated in November before the start of the 2023/24 winter season. The holiday village was originally built in 1993. The resort offers 60 spacious apartments spread over six holiday villas. The resort also includes the "Haus des Gastes", a small library, an indoor swimming pool, a sauna, and a massage practice. The holiday village is located in the immediate vicinity of the Wasserwendi-Käserstatt mountain railway.

Roofing of curling fields at the Alpine Sports Centre Mürren

The Alpine Sports Centre Mürren is investing in the roofing of its infrastructure. In summer 2020, the small ice rink adjacent to the sports hall got a new roof at a cost of CHF 1.4 million. By doing so, the available space for sports and events has been expanded. In winter, a total of three curling fields can now be offered, which are protected from the weather. The large ice rink with an additional six curling rinks remains an outdoor experience. In addition, there is also a spa with saunas, a steam bath, indoor massage pool and outdoor whirlpool, indoor swimming pool, and much more on offer here.

Reopening of Hotel Piz Mitgel

The Hotel Piz Mitgel will be carefully renovated from April until the beginning of December 2021, to give it back the splendour and radiance it had in the past. The historical features of the hotel, which was built in 1869, are to be skilfully highlighted, without foregoing the amenities of a modern hotel. All 30 rooms will be retained, and the gastronomy will focus on Graubünden cuisine.

Snowshoe tour with meditative exercises on the Rigi

Experience the winter flair of the Weggis Vitznau Rigi region in an entirely new way. "The Innerwalk Project — Winter Version" combines (snowshoe) hiking to places of power with mindfulness practices from yoga, ecstatic dance, sound healing and guided meditation. For this experience, the 10 to 15 participants listen to live music that has been specially adapted to the surroundings and instructions from the guide/teacher through RF headphones at various locations along the tour. This multi-sensory winter offer, which is unique in Switzerland, is planned as one-day and two-day tours from November 2021.

Klang-Kinderland

Toggenburg sounds good. Once again, the driving forces in Obertoggenburg are backing up this claim. In a project spearheaded by Toggenburg Tourism and the Klangwelt Toggenburg foundation, the partner institutions built two new slopes dedicated entirely to sound. The “Klang-Kinderland” (children’s world of sound) for young children and families is set up on the grounds of the Chäserrugg Ski School at the valley station in Alt St. Johann. The faster-paced “Klangpiste” (sound slope) at the fun slope in Wildhaus appeals to both younger skiers and the young-at-heart.

New children’s snow sports area in Hüttenberg

There is a new children’s snow sports area in Hüttenberg for families and children to enjoy: “Kinderland Hüttenberg”. A few initiators, including the Braunwald Ski School, have conceptualised the Hüttenberg area as a family meeting place. The focus is on Kinderland Hüttenberg, which is available to all guests as an additional practice area (not just guests of the ski school). Small children in particular can practise here. The area is equipped with two rope lifts, course and slalom elements, many training aids and small jumps. This makes practising especially fun. The surroundings are also suitably set up: There is the new Snowli Grill snack bar right next door, where guests can quickly satisfy their hunger and quench their thirst. There are also new family-friendly sanitary facilities.

Snow sculptures as a unique attraction in the ski area

In the ski area of Evolène, mountain railway employee Marcio Morais is building even more snow sculptures for the winter of 2021/22. The works of art made of snow will become part of the newly designed children's world. Meanwhile, the adults can enjoy themselves at a bar – which was also built out of snow by the artist, of course.

Evening tour with a night watchman

When darkness falls, it is time for the night watchman to come out. With a horn, lantern and halberd, they protect the honourable citizens from marauding riff-raff. From autumn 2021, you can take part in this exciting tour, listen to the stories from times gone by and enjoy the special ambience of Winterthur by night. Clad in historical costume, Winterthur's city guides will take you to special places and tell you about the job of the night watchmen in the 18th/19th centuries.
