

MUOTTAS MURAGL

HOW TO ENJOY

Muottas Muragl - Where spectacular views await

More than 100 years ago, the Muottas Muragl Railway rattled up the daring incline for the first time. Thanks to courageous pioneers, we can welcome you today on what is probably the most beautiful excursion mountain in the Engadin.

Everyone will find the right winter activity on Muottas Muragl. Numerous winter hiking trails invite you to unwind and enjoy the beautiful winter landscape. But if that's too quiet for you, try our 4.2-kilometre-long toboggan run. It's a speedy ride around 20 tricky curves down to the valley. Also, the Romantic Hotel Muottas Muragl has a lot to offer in the way of culinary delights. Traditional dishes with an exotic touch created from regional and seasonal products - gourmets' hearts beat faster. And best of all - the Muottas Muragl funicular is the only funicular in the Engadin that runs regularly until 11 p.m. during the season and takes you high up the mountain for mountain dining in the panorama restaurant.

CORVATSCH

HOW TO SNOW

Corvatsch Snow Night - Skiing under the spotlight

Corvatsch has the longest illuminated slope in Switzerland: it's 4.2 kilometres of pure skiing fun from the Murtèl middle station down to Surlej.

Every Friday evening, the snow groomers set out to prepare slope no. 10 first of all so that the slope is ready for the snow sports enthusiasts arriving for the Snow Night from 7 p.m. onwards. Skiing at night is a truly special experience. Logically, you know it's the same slope that you ski on during the day, just with artificial lighting. But that's not how it feels. Your senses feel sharpened, more focused on the illuminated slope. It's dark all around and only the moon and stars shed light on the mountains. Feeling hungry? At the Alpetta restaurant, you can enjoy a fondue dinner in one of the cozy rooms, while later at night the Hossa Bar is the place to go for après-ski in Engadin, with cool drinks, delicious snacks and rocking parties.

CORVIGLIA

HOW TO SNOW

Corviglia ski area – a carving paradise

Leaning into every turn, gliding along the wide slope, letting your hand slightly graze the ground while your skis cut deep into the snow - a simply wonderful feeling here on the slopes of Corviglia.

24 lifts, 38 slopes with 155 kilometers, of which 42 km are marked blue, 79 km red, and 34 km black. These are the facts. But a day on Corviglia is much more than that. Skiing on Corviglia means to become part of great winter sports history: five World Ski Championships as well as the 1948 Winter Olympics were held here. However, it has lost none of its glory in the meantime - Corviglia is now one of the most renowned ski resorts in the world. With many exciting extras on the slopes, such as the Ski Run, the Speedcheck or the Snowpark "Crowland" - no matter whether beginner or advanced, on Corviglia, all skiers and snowboarders get their money's worth. The ski area stretches from 1800 to over 3000 meters above sea level- and snow is guaranteed.
